- Charnel is a singer-songwriter based out of Atlanta. She recently upped her fame game when the video of her singing Whitney Houston's "I Have Nothing" was posted on The Shade Room. The video immediately went viral, gaining 1million+ views.
- Charnel's is a single mother who is still willing to give love a chance! She's dated nerds, smart guys, athletes, music producers and even entertained a few swingers.
- Her big personality is warm, inviting and automatically builds trust. Whenever it's difficult for her to speak her true feelings, she nervously sings them out instead in a soul stirring fashion.
- The dating scene in Atlanta ran her out of town and she looks forward to reclaiming her old stomping grounds. She's learned that looks can be deceiving, and that most guys have more than one undercover lover, especially those on the "down-low."
- Charnel thinks a big mistake women make is unrealistically setting the bar too high. She doesn't believe the "perfect man" exist and encourages daters to meet each other halfway.
- She loves her "Roomies" and is ready to share her dating trials and tribulations to help someone find true love. Her stories are comically unbelievable and entertaining, especially the surprising one about "Birthday Butt!"
